

[ACA Home Page]

Historic Photograph Gallery

Those who have lived and whose families have lived on the Alameda Creek watershed have many recollections of the ample steelhead and salmon runs on the creek and its many tributaries. Photographs documenting this are included in the gallery below.

Sinbad Creek
An upper tributary of Alameda
Creek

Spring 1953: Grandma and Randy in the kitchen of the house on Kilkare Road, Sunol, CA.

Sinbad Creek
An upper tributary of
Alameda Creek

1950's: Uncle Richard and cousin Dickie, thought to be a King Salmon caught near the Church, Sunol, CA.

Sinbad Creek
An upper tributary of
Alameda Creek

Spring 1953: Thurm, Steelhead trout caught in Sinbad Creek, Sunol, CA.